Dear Parents and Carers,

This week has just flown by and we are fast approaching half term.

The pupil's Imaginative Learning Projects have again been a great hit and this week we have seen everything from bridge construction for goats to Romeo and Juliet recitals, it's all going on!

Planning for next half term's projects is well underway and a trip or experience is planned for each class, we'll keep you posted of the details.

The pupils involved in the class change have settled beautifully and we are seeing some super work across the school. Well done everyone.

Enjoy your weekend,
Jess Roden

Down on the Farm

Reception's next topic is Do cow's drink milk?

We are going for an all out farming experience and we can't wait!
If anyone has anything to enhance our farm yard role play we would be grateful, wellingtons, animals (stuffed or plastic), egg boxes etc. would be fabulous.

Year 3

Year 3 have had a good week learning all about the Ancient Greeks in Literacy.

They are also enjoying learning about time in Maths.
They have settled beautifully into their new routines and are loving having Mr Buckley as their teacher.
Great work Year 3!

Year 4

Year 4 have performed Romeo and Juliet which they have been studying this week in English, forsooth!

Winter Weather

As the cold weather continues please can you ensure that your child comes to school with a warm coat with hood or a hat and gloves.

Thank you.

Mad Science

Apologies to all our young scientists from Mad Science who due to sudden unforeseen circumstances were unable to run the session last night. The course will now end on Thursday 2nd March. Thank you for your understanding.
